

“NOT SO, WITH MY SERVANT MOSES,
HE IS FAITHFUL IN ALL MY HOUSEHOLD; WITH HIM I SPEAK MOUTH TO MOUTH,
EVEN OPENLY, AND NOT IN DARK SAYINGS,
AND HE BEHOLDS THE FORM OF THE LORD.”

“May the Lord cause you to increase and abound in love for one another, and for all people, just as we also do for you; so that He may establish your hearts without blame in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus with all His saints. ”

Quotation of the week:

“For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup,” is Paul’s annotation, “you proclaim the Lord’s death until He comes” (I Corinthians 11:26). The weekly assembly of the saints is the great proclamation to the world that Jesus not only died but rose again on their behalf. He has delivered them from the power of darkness and eventually will usher them into the courts of glory.”

The Sixth Seal

The four horsemen rode, showing the forces of the gospel, war, famine, and fear of death working on the human race. The breaking of the fifth seal showed souls of the redeemed under the altar of incense, crying out for vengeance upon those who persecuted the early church. Real Christianity has been denigrated publicly, declared illegal many times, and has been hampered by every possible roadblock. True saints of the Lord have been persecuted and executed for their beliefs and for their proclamation of those beliefs. More souls keep being added to the number under the altar. So how does the story end on planet earth?

- Breaking the sixth seal – It is important to remember this is a vision, a virtual stage play. “And I looked,” remarks the apostle, “when He broke the sixth seal” (Revelation 6:12). All the host of heaven are pictured as breathlessly awaiting the breaking of each seal on the book! “And there was,” John gives his description, “a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth made of hair, and the whole moon became like blood...” Sometimes people with little Bible knowledge or perspective think that a “blood moon” is the beginning of the fulfillment of this vision of John in Revelation. “Blood moons,” where the moon turns reddish during a lunar eclipse, are common and don’t mean anything other than the usual course of the heavenly in their orbits. Besides that, what about the sun’s turning black? It is important to remember that this is a vision in John’s mind. “And the stars of the sky fell to the earth, as a fig tree casts its unripe figs when shaken by a great wind” (Revelation 6:13). Our sun, which is in a category of what might be called smaller stars, is 1,000,000 times the volume of earth. The point is: these stars are not literal stars falling to earth, which would be impossible; this is a vision depicting the final destruction of the universe.

- More destruction – In the vision, “the stars were a fallin’!” The vision continues. “And the sky was split apart like a scroll when it is rolled up” (Revelation 6:14). The picture is like that of a scroll being slit with a knife, and the two halves snapping into their separate coils. “And every mountain and island were moved out of their places.” Everything on earth “was a shakin’!”
- “Fall on us” – “And the kings of the earth and the great men and the commanders and the rich and the strong and every slave and every free man, hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains” (Revelation 6:15). Something tremendously terrifying is appearing that would cause every person, without exception, to take cover. “...and they said to the mountains and to the rocks, ‘Fall on us and hide us from the presence of Him who sits on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb...’ ” (Revelation 6:16). For the vast bulk of earth’s inhabitants, the day of Jesus’ second coming will not be a day of rejoicing. It is reminiscent of the early opening of this book: “Behold, He is coming with the clouds, and every eye will see Him, even those who pierced Him; and all the tribes of earth will mourn over Him. Even so, Amen” (Revelation 1:7).

There will be no mercy for those not covered by the blood of the Lamb!

For anyone to be in position where he would rather have a cliff fall on him than to face God’s wrath gives a better picture of the terrifying nature of the righteousness and holiness of the pure and true God. The apostle Paul stated, “For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness” (Romans 1:18). Those calling for the rocks and mountains to fall on them are depicted as noting, “for the great day of their wrath has come; and who is able to stand?” (Revelation 6:17). “Their wrath” has come... Not only is the One described as on the throne wrathful, but the Lamb Himself is projecting His righteous and destroying anger. The new covenant is a covenant of mercy, but there will be no mercy for those not covered by the blood of the Lamb at His return. No games or pretenses; just get ready!
