

“Behold, I am going to send for many fishermen,” declares the LORD, “and they will fish for them; and afterwards I will send for many hunters, and they will hunt them from every mountain and every hill and from the clefts of the rocks.”

And He was saying, “That which proceeds out of the man, that is what defiles the man. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed the evil thoughts, fornications, thefts, murders, adulteries, deeds of coveting and wickedness, as well as deceit, sensuality, envy, slander, pride and foolishness. All these evil things proceed from within and defile the man.”

Quotation of the week:

Make no mistake about it: there is no place for Christianity under “global governance” of the United Nations! As Christianity was prohibited in the Soviet Union on the basis of this statement in their Constitution: “Incitement of hostility or hatred on religious grounds is prohibited”; just so will Christianity be outlawed by those international documents which are identical in form to those of the old Soviet Constitution! -- Spring 2003 “11th Hour Times” - Darwinian Revolution, “The source of rights”—Jay Wilson

Reasonings from Revelation

The Glory and the Gloom

Nearly everything, by God's design, is in stark contrast. Light is in contrast to darkness, holiness to sin, good to evil, heaven to hell, God to Satan. These contrasts are a necessary part of God's communication process, so that the lost race of mankind can understand that each has a choice to make: eternity in heaven, or eternity in the lake of fire. Glory... or gloom!

- The eternal gospel—The apostle John is having a series of mini-visions inside a larger vision as the seventh trumpet has sounded and preparations are made for seven bowls of wrath. "And I saw another angel flying in midheaven," the apostle records, "having an eternal gospel to preach to those who live on the earth..." (Revelation 14:6).

Earlier in the Apocalypse, John had seen an eagle flying in that midheaven, crying out, "Woe, woe, woe, to those who dwell on the earth," foreboding the destruction coming upon those who would not turn to the Lord (Revelation 8:13). Here, however, it is an angel flying, and the angel has "good news," good news that is to be preached. (In God's system of working with man, the message from heaven is delivered through "the foolishness" of preaching — 1 Corinthians 1:21-28). That message is thus delivered to "those who live on the earth, and to every nation and tribe and tongue and people."

- "Give Him glory"—This angel also spoke "with a loud voice." "Fear God," he heralded, "and give Him glory, because the hour of His judgment has come; and worship Him who made the heaven and the earth and sea and springs of waters" (Revelation 14:7). The Creator God is worthy of worship, and so is the Lamb. Judgment is coming, so choose well!
- Babylon the late great—The book of Revelation really is "a tale of two cities," "Jerusalem" and "Babylon." "Jerusalem" is the church, and "Babylon" is "the world." John, in his first general epistle, phrased it this way, "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the boastful pride of life, is not from the Father, but is from the world" (1 John 2:16). "Babylon," as her story develops in the book of Revelation, epitomizes "all that is in the world." "Babylon" is first introduced without name, and in the symbolic language characteristic of the Apocalypse. She is termed "the great city which mystically is called Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified" (Revelation 11:8).
- Another angel—The first angel flying in midheaven had positive news. But wait, there's more. "And another angel, a second one, followed, saying, 'Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great, she who has made all the nations drink of the wine of the passion of her immorality'" (Revelation 14:8). "Babylon" of the Old Testament was indeed, in human terms, a great city. Its land area, for ancient times, was huge, and it was a walled city, with walls by some accounts in some places 335 feet high and 85 feet wide, and with the wall length totaling about 41 miles. The main entrance to the city was the grand Ishtar Gate (dedicated to the fertility goddess Ishtar, equivalent to Ashtar in the Bible, and Easter to the Germanic tribes). Here was the awesome palace of Nebuchadnezzar, and the ziggurat honoring the god Marduk (equivalent to the Greek god Zeus). Isaiah and Jeremiah prophesied Babylon's destruction, saying that it would be in ruins and nothing but wild animals would live there (which has come true!). The might and fall of earthly Babylon are used as a symbol for the fall of the "Babylon" of Revelation.

"The eternal gospel"
will triumph and
reach every truth-
seeker on the planet.

"Babylon has fallen" was the message of the second angel. She who enticed the world with the passion of her immorality (and how strong a pull is that in modern times) will come down. But "the eternal gospel" will triumph and will reach every truth-seeker on the planet, from whatever nation and tribe and tongue and people. "Gloom" for Babylon, "glory" for God, for the gospel, and for those who are partakers in it!
